

Try making use of adjectives and adverbs to write this short essay!

You are working for a local travel agency dedicated to promoting Hong Kong to both the locals and foreign visitors. Use the headings below to complete a pamphlet advertising one of the company's local tours.

1. About Name of the Tour
2. Three Highlights of this Tour

I use adjectives to glam up my promotional text. Why? Because I am trying to make the trip appealing! I need to entice people with a mesmerising description, captivate them with aesthetic lexicon, and sweep them off their feet with a relaxing, therapeutic trip!

About the Waters of Hong Kong

Hong Kong, often called the 'Pearl of the Orient,' is famous for its stunning night views. Its globalised economy has turned it into a 'shopping paradise,' while its rich cultural diversity offers delicious dishes from around the world, earning it the title of 'food paradise.' While these are well-known aspects of the city, many locals may not realise that there's a beautiful blue sapphire hidden in plain sight on this small island. With a long coastline, a diverse marine ecosystem, and breathtaking waters, Hong Kong is truly blessed with natural resources.

*Don't be greedy. Two consecutive adjectives are enough. ←
We want to impress, not overwhelm.*

Join us on this one-day tour to explore the fascinating aquatic side of Hong Kong and participate in exciting water activities while enjoying the unique landscapes and sea creatures the region has to offer.

A more economical expression than '...this tour, which lasts for a day...'

Three Highlights of This Tour

Pink Dolphin Sighting

Let's start the day with a morning pink dolphin sighting! There's nothing like watching these adorable dolphins leap and dance in the ocean, greeting you with friendly tail waves under the bright sun. You'll feel energised as you gaze across the shimmering turquoise waves, with a refreshing morning breeze gently awakening you and the pleasant scent of the ocean in the air.

→ There is no harm in emphasising how cute dolphins are.

All-You-Can-Play Water Activities

I want to ensure people that they are in good hands, so they feel safe enough to join. ←
In the afternoon, we'll charter a boat and head out into the vast ocean. Experienced instructors will be on hand to guide you through various water activities. You can go snorkeling in shallow waters to spend quality time with marine life and admire stunning coral reefs. The underwater scenery will truly amaze you! Whether you want to try wakesurfing, wakeboarding or kayaking, we'll have everything prepared for you.

→ Plant the seed of 'this trip is going to be epic' into people's minds.

Dinner by the Beach

It would be a shame not to spend time at the beach in Hong Kong. Picture a clear night sky filled with twinkling stars, a tranquil atmosphere, the soothing sound of waves lapping at the shore, and the soft sand beneath your feet. Hong Kong's beaches are tiny slices of paradise that offer peace to your busy mind and refresh your spirit. Enjoying local seafood while taking in the scenery will leave you feeling rejuvenated and ready to embrace the world again.

→ I create a stark contrast using 'peace' and 'busy', amping up the allure. Smart, right?

→ If you understand participle adjectives as well as I do, you can explain why it is 'rejuvenated' and not 'rejuvenating'. Well, if you don't, you know what to do.