Bus Nearly Tipped Over

Cindy Chan

Yesterday morning, Airport Bus No. A215 almost tipped over when it was running on Airport Road in Tung Chung.

As the summer holiday has just begun, loads of people flocked to the airport to travel overseas. It was reported that Airport Bus No. A215 went extremely fast, and almost fell over on Airport Road in Tung Chung at 8:45 am yesterday. Both the upper and lower decks of the bus were full. It was lucky that the bus was able to stop just in time and did not fall over.

'I thought the bus driver was drunk,' said Mr John Lo, who was driving his taxi on the opposite side of the road. Mr Paul Ho, a private car driver said, 'I was driving on the other lane beside the bus. The bus was going very fast. It seemed like it would fall over any minute. So I honked my horn to alert the bus driver.'

The 45-year-old bus driver, Mr Peter Wong, felt dizzy after taking some medicine when he was driving. He was sent to hospital after the incident. 'I couldn't concentrate on the road as I felt really dizzy,' said Mr Wong at the hospital. 'I wanted to take a deep breath to refresh myself. All of a sudden, I heard the sound of a horn. I was awakened and I braked sharply at once! Fortunately, the bus stopped before causing an accident.'

An elderly man on the bus was also sent to hospital for a medical check-up. 'I was sleeping on the bus. I was woken by the sharp brake of the bus. I was so shocked that my heart was beating like a drum.'

'After this frightening incident, I'll never drive after taking any kind of medication in the future,' said Mr Peter Wong.
