10th March (Monday)

Cloudy

Today, I was going to school by MTR when an accident happened. Two little kids were running around on the train. One of them bumped into an old lady.

The old lady was in pain after she fell down. Everyone on the train was shocked and the kids were frightened. Then someone pressed the emergency button to ask for help. At the next station, two ambulance officers came in and took the old lady to hospital. About ten minutes later, the train started moving again.

Cloudy

Today, I was going to school by MTR when an accident happened. Two little kids were running around on the train. One of them accidentally bumped into an old lady who was standing up. She then lost balance and fell down.

The old lady was moaning loudly as she was in pain. Many passengers were shocked while the kids were frightened. One of the passengers pressed the emergency button immediately and asked the station officers for help. At the next station, two ambulance officers came in and took the old lady to hospital. I hope her injury isn't serious and she will recover soon!

More details are given about why and how the old lady got hurt on the MTR.

More difficult words are used (e.g. using 'passenger' instead of 'someone' to talk about the people on the MTR).

The writer's feelings and thoughts towards the injured old lady are given to end the diary entry.
