Read the poem.

Double the joy of one
By sharing with everyone!
'Friends, come and have some sweets!
I smile sweeter than the treats.

Help your friends on rainy days,
Share your umbrella with Ray.
If there is only one tiny book,
Don't fight! Take turns to have a look.

Pass the ball to your little brother,
And you will score one goal after the other.
Sharing is what bright children do,
Because one head cannot be better than two.

Give away some of your pocket money,
People in need will feel sunny.
Share all of your toys,
It will double the joy!
