

Read the book report.

Carl's Flying Box

Carl's Flying Box is the second book of Ronald Davis's series about a little boy called Carl. Ronald Davis is a very famous children's book writer and Carl's Golden Chocolate is a very successful book because it is fun. However, Carl's Flying Box is not as interesting as Carl's Golden Chocolate.

This book's story continues from the things that happened in Carl's Golden Chocolate. Mr Winky went to Carl's home in a flying glass box to tell Carl the good news—Carl would own Mr Winky's factory! Then Carl and his family rode in the box and flew in the sky with Mr Winky. However, they went into space by mistake. In space, there was Space Hotel where people from the Earth could stay in. The people there thought Mr Winky, Carl and his family were aliens. However, the real aliens were hiding in the hotel. They looked like rotten potatoes. They were very cruel. Mr Winky used the box to help everyone get back to the Earth safely.

This book is just okay. The first one is a lot funnier. I think the book is quite boring and less magical. I do not know why my friends would recommend this book. Carl's Golden Chocolate is much better.

6A Danny Chung

Test your understanding.

- Who are the readers of Davis's books?
  - A. adults
  - B. students
  - C. children
  - D. teachers
- The aliens were like rotten potatoes because _____.
  - A. they smelt bad
  - B. they loved potatoes
  - C. they had three heads
  - D. they had round heads
- Read lines 8-9. Mr Winky, Carl and his family _____.
  - A. joined a space tour
  - B. enjoyed flying in the sky
  - C. went to space in a box
  - D. did not plan to go into space
- Which of the following sentence is likely to be in the book?
  - A. 'I'm sorry, Mum.'
  - B. 'We've gone into space!'
  - C. 'Let's have some chocolate.'
  - D. 'I won't give you my factory.'