Read the conversation.

(In a museum)

Joan : Grandpa, look! The houses in Hong Kong were so small in the past.

Grandpa : That's right! I lived in smaller houses when I was young. Now, there are tall buildings everywhere.

Joan : Look at this photo. Why were the children queuing up outside this hut? 5

Grandpa : The children were lining up to go to the toilet. They had to share just one toilet.

Joan : Oh no! I'd be late for school if I had to queue up like that every morning!

Grandpa : Haha, you could learn to be patient! Look, there's a model of the school in the past. 10

Joan : Why was there only one classroom?

Grandpa : There were not many students in the past. Only rich people could go to school.

Joan : Grandpa, where did you buy your food? 15

Grandpa : We grew our own food.

Joan : There was no shopping centre! Where did you get your toys?

Grandpa : We made our own toys! I loved playing with paper planes and small stones.

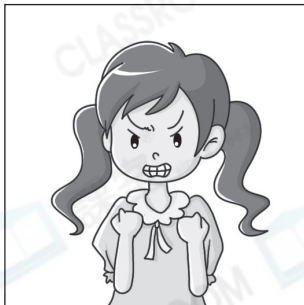

Joan : That's boring! Were there any computer games? 20

Grandpa : Of course not!

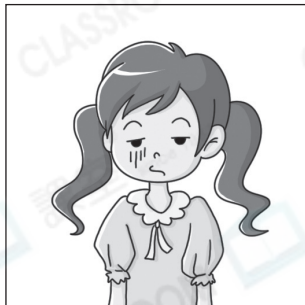

(Joan looks at Grandpa with wide eyes.)
