Beauty from the Old Times

Myanmar is a country in southeast Asia. Some people also call her Burma. She might not be as popular as her neighbouring countries such as Thailand, Vietnam and Cambodia, but people still love her for her beautiful scenery.

There are a lot of mountains in Myanmar. The highest mountain is called Hkakabo Razi. It snows throughout the year near the top. You can visit the national park for its amazing views and an exciting hike.

Besides the mountains, you can also explore the lakes. Inle Lake is the second biggest lake in Myanmar. There are some floating villages around it. To learn more about the place, we suggest you go on a full-day boat trip. You won't regret it!

The Buddhist temples are also the must-see spots in the country. In the city Bagan, you can find more than 2,000 temples. People in Myanmar mostly used stones to build their temples hundreds of years ago. The ancient stones add a sense of nature and mystery to the temples and the religion. Unfortunately, some temples are now closed because of earthquakes. However, the historic and spiritual atmosphere there still makes Bagan attractive and special.
