Dennis and His Friends

Dennis is a friendly ant. He eats and plays happily with his friends on the grassland every day.

One day, autumn brings a cool breeze to the grassland. Many ants are busy collecting food but not Dennis. Every time when his friends ask him to work, he says, 'I still have time. Let me play for one more day.'

Day after day, the weather is getting colder and colder. When Dennis opens his eyes one morning, he finds that it is white outside. He is freezing and hungry.

Someone knocks at the door. It is Dennis' friends. They come to share their food with Dennis because they know he does not have any. Dennis cries and says, 'I'm glad to have friends like you! I'm going to work hard next year!'
