

Text Type Analysis: Story

- A story is a description of a series of events. A writer writes a story to entertain people. It can be real or fictional.

A Warm Coat for Winter

On a cold winter's night, a poor farmer was rushing back to his barn to feed his piglets. He was so happy that he could get a large bucket of leftovers from his friend who worked at a restaurant in the city.

He was walking past a tailor shop when he tripped over a stone and fell on the ground. Everything inside his bucket spilt over the street.

The tailor stormed out of his shop and yelled, 'It's so stinky here! Use your own coat to clean up the mess!'

A lawyer drove by the shop and saw this. He got out of his car and pointed at the tailor. 'You are killing the man because he could die from the cold!' he shouted. The tailor got into a panic that he immediately picked the warmest coat from his shop and gave it to the farmer. He also apologised as he knew he had been wrong. The poor farmer put on the fine coat and said to the lawyer, 'I'm so grateful for what you've done!'

Title

Give readers a brief idea of what the story is about

Beginning

Introduce the characters and setting

Development

Describe the events that bring the plot to the climax

Climax

State the major problem that the main character(s) faced

Ending

Tell how the main character(s) solved the problem

