

Text Type Analysis: Presentation script

- A presentation script is the written form of a speech. A writer writes a script for a presentation to inform, persuade or explain.

Creative Ideas

Good morning, my fellow schoolmates. I am Chelsea Chung from Class 6A. I am the chairperson of the Student Ambassadors. Have you ever heard of our team before? Today, I would like to talk about how we help make the school a more interesting and pleasant place for learning.

The Student Ambassadors are divided into two groups. One is the gardening group. These members manage the school garden and grow plants at school. The other is the art group. These members help Miss Fung with the murals project. By the end of June, there will be beautiful paintings on the walls outside the school hall.

I hope all of you can understand that spending time helping the school is in fact very meaningful. We perform different duties to make the school a better environment for learning. Some of you may get bored with typical after-school activities like the Magic Club, school choir and skipping team. Why not consider joining us if you want to do something different? I am waiting for you in 6A classroom!

That's the end of my speech. Thank you for listening!

Introduction

- Greet the listeners
- Introduce the topic of the presentation
- Catch the listeners' attention by asking them a question

Body

- Talk about the content of the presentation
- Give details, suggestions, new ideas, opinions, examples, etc.

Conclusion

- Summarise the key points of the presentation
- Thank the listeners