I joined a boat tour to Hong Kong Geopark with my family last week. This was my first boat trip. It was amazing! I took many photos of the rare rocks. After that, we enjoyed a delicious meal in Sai Kung. I had a wonderful weekend. Do you have any local trip experiences to share?

I think my trip to Yuen Long Ping Shan Heritage Trail was worthwhile. It was nice and I felt calm in the rural areas. We had Poon Choi for lunch at the walled village. We also learnt about its history, traditional customs and local food.

I joined the West Kowloon Scenic Tour with my mum last month. The views from sky100 Observation Deck were fabulous. However, it was a bit crowded. We had a dim sum buffet afterwards. The food tasted good but the portion was too stingy. The staff did not refill much food, and we found that the restaurant charged us $50 for a can of cola! I think it was ridiculous! Can any of you suggest some other local tours to join?

@Horace_503 You may join a training camp tour at the Chong Hing Water Sports Centre. The artificial lake there is ideal for water sports. I tried nearly all the activities there with my friends. Some coaches went along with us to ensure our safety. At night, we went camping after a barbecue. The next morning, campers made their own breakfast. We only had cold ham and bread so we made some sandwiches. They were a bit bland and cold. I think I have to learn how to cook over an open fire...
