Teen hobbies of now and then

Teens of my parents' generation always played with their siblings. But I have a lot (1) siblings than them so most of my playmates are just my schoolmates. My dad remembered (2) Lego cars and houses with his brothers; and my mum liked (3) ropes. However, they stopped (4) these activities long time ago.

It seems that teen hobbies in the old days cost much (5) money. Unlike the youth of that era, we have (6) more expensive electronic devices like tablets. Sometimes, we'd rather (7) alone because these high-tech gadgets do not require any interaction with other people. As a result, we may have (8) time reserved for our family and friends. So the relationship may worsen.

In order to develop a healthier hobby, I have joined the social service team. Before that, I had (9) awareness of the current issues. As I have a lot (10) chances to serve the community now, I have known more about society. Last week, we visited the elderly who lived alone and helped (11) their flats. It was so meaningful! Doing voluntary work has become my new hobby. I hope (12) more people in the future.
