Act 1 Scene 1: At a local café

Mr Chan, looking very upset, is sitting at a table alone. Enter Mr Law.

Mr Law: Why are you so upset, Mr Chan?

1. Mr Chan: (sigh) The glass window of my shop is broken. I must repaired it.

Mr Law: Oh. What happened?

2. Mr Chan: As I told you before, I often saw five to six gangsters passed by
3. my shop and they stopped ask for a protection fee. Yesterday,
4. they came again with a few less people. There were eight of them.

5. Mr Law: I remember you to talk about that before. Did they break the window?

6. Mr Chan: Yes. There were too much gangsters but I was all on my own. You
7. know, I tried negotiate with them rationally but they were out of
8. control. They continued to threaten me with breaking few more
9. things. (shaking head) I finally gave them some money because I couldn't bear be disturbed any more.

Mr Law: (shocked) Oh no. That was serious. Did you call the police?

10. Mr Chan: Yes, I did afterwards. Too bad I installed too little CCTV cameras in the shop. Without the video, I have no proof that they did it.

11. Mr Law: You'd better not opened the shop until the window is repaired.

12. Mr Chan: Indeed. I still need slightly less time to tidy up the shop. It was a
13. mess. I hope the repair work won't cost me too many money.
